RICHMOND GETS ITALIAN CONSUL

DR. CAMILLO VERTA.

AGAIN THEY HAVE CONSTABLE DAVIS

Henrico Officer, Out on Conditionally Pardon, Is Arrested on Another Charge.

Five days after being liberated from jail on a conditional pardon, Constable Thomas A. Davis, of Henrico County, is again in the toils. He was arrested yesterday morning by Officer T. Wilson, Sr., on a warrant in which he is charged with interfering with C. M. Parker, a motorman on the Richmond and Appomattox Railroad, and using abusive language. Davis, serving a twelve-month sentence for a brutal and unprovoked attack on J. N. Throckmorton, a motorman on the Richmond and Appomattox Railroad, was pardoned by Governor Mann after spending two months in jail. His release was the result of untiring efforts on the part of numerous friends who circulated many petitions and worked up considerable sympathy in his behalf. His wife and three dependent children, all less than five years of age, aroused sympathy and induced the jury to sign a petition asking for a pardon. Judge Scott signed the paper, but Commonwealth's Attorney Frank T. Sutton, Jr., and Sheriff L. H. Kemp, refused to be a party to the release. Mrs. Davis, during the incarceration of her husband, was forced to work in a local factory to support her children.

Considerable interest is manifested in the recent development of the hesitancy of the county authorities to arrest Davis. Although he reported Sunday as creating a disturbance on a car Saturday night, no effort was made to take him into custody until yesterday. The hearing of the charges was set for June 28, and pending trial the accused man was bailed in the sum of $100, by Magistrate S. H. Sunday, with J. W. Clark as surety.

CASE CONTINUED

Preliminary Hearing of Beaver Dam Distillers Postponed to Friday.

The preliminary hearing of the revenue fraud charges against J. H. Barton, government storekeeper-gauger, and F. W. Harper, proprietor of the Beaver Dam distillery, Mecklenburg County, was continued yesterday afternoon by United States Commissioner Flegenheimer until Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Harper renewed his bail bond for $1,500, and Barton was taken back to the Henrico County Jail, having failed to find a bondsman. The commissioner requires $1,500 bond from Barton.

Barton and Harper were arrested by a United States deputy marshal following the discovery of an alleged scheme to defraud the United States government of its tax on spirits at the Beaver Dam distillery.

Busy Ants

Are being placed in the city playgrounds of Cleveland for part of the summer instruction of the children. The idea is to bring home to little citizens the nature lessons taught by the ant, and to emphasize the value of frugal industry.

After all, nature is the greatest teacher, and there is much wisdom in the plan. Nature's text-book is a true one, from which we all may learn. Industry and provision for the days of inactivity fill many a page in her great work.

Committee From Central Christian Church Confers With H. D. C. MacLachlan.

It became known last night for the first time that representatives of the Central Christian Church, of New York City, have been in negotiation with the Rev. Hugh D. C. MacLachlan, pastor of the Seventh Street Christian Church, of this city, for the last week with the view to obtaining the Richmond minister's services for the metropolitan congregation. The committee from the Central Christian Church came to Richmond several weeks ago to hear Mr. MacLachlan preach, and the New Yorkers were so favorably impressed with him that they asked at once whether or not he would be willing to abandon his charge here and come to New York.

The committee was not empowered to extend a call to Mr. MacLachlan or to make definite offers, but it is presumed that the necessary call will be forthcoming if the Richmond minister indicates his willingness to accept. The New Yorkers had a conference with Mr. MacLachlan to present an outline of conditions obtaining in the Central Christian Church and the field to be entered by the new pastor, and to sound Mr. MacLachlan's state of mind. Mr. MacLachlan closed the conference by promising to take the proposal under advisement.

Will Stay Here.

Over the telephone last night Mr. MacLachlan told a reporter for The Times-Dispatch that while he had not yet given the Central church committee a reply, nor had fully made up his mind in the matter, he had about decided to refuse further overtures. The work of his church is just beginning to open out into wider scope, he said, and he does not feel that this would be an appropriate time to sever his local connections. He indicated that he would write to New York within a few days and declare his unwillingness to accept the pastorate of the Central Church.

PLANNING CENTENNIAL

Baltimoreans to Celebrate Writing of "Star-Spangled Banner."

Colonel Robert E. Lee, of Baltimore, called on Governor Mann yesterday, asking that Virginia be officially represented at the Star-Spangled Banner centennial to be held in Baltimore in September, 1914. It is planned to make the affair of national scope, commemorating the writing of the "Star-Spangled Banner" and the battle of Fort Mifflin, following the battle of North Point, which resulted in the repulse of the British army and the years of peace between English-speaking peoples. The celebration indicated his interest in the matter, but he goes out of office before the date of the celebration and will accept an official invitation to attend.

DISLOCATES KNEE

Son of Rev. R. H. Poole Hurt While Bathing at Buckroe Beach.

Manning Poole, son of Rev. R. H. Poole, pastor of the Monument Methodist Church, sustained a dislocated knee yesterday while bathing at Buckroe Beach, where he had gone with the annual excursion of the Sunday school of the Broad Street and Monument churches.

Dr. Marshall L. Boyle and Dr. Otis T. Amory, who were returning from a fishing trip, rendered emergency treatment to the boy, who was able to return to his home, 1762 Park Avenue, last night.

SOMETHING ABOUT WANTS.

The Wants have afforded opportunities for many.

When emergencies arise, when the cook leaves, when the household must move, when added workers are needed in business, when an article of value is lost, when a better job is to be had, when any one of a score of conditions arises that must be met quickly and effectively—then the Wants are of special service.

A Want Ad is a shock absorber.

Turning the Wants to advantage is a practical way to meet many conditions that demand instant action.

Are you making full use of the Wants?
